Workshop on Management of the Interface Between Safety and Security for Nuclear Fuel Cycle Facilities

IAEA Headquarters, Vienna, Austria

24 – 28 November 2025

Information Sheet

Introduction

While recognizing that nuclear safety and nuclear security are the responsibility of the Member States, the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) is organizing activities to assist the regulatory authorities and operators of nuclear fuel cycle facilities (NFCFs) to carry out this responsibility. The large quantities, variety, and form of the nuclear and other radioactive materials that are handled at NFCFs present specific challenges within the fields of nuclear safety and nuclear security. Incidents at such facilities incur risks, regardless of whether a radiological release is caused by a natural event, human error, equipment failure or a malicious act. Nuclear safety and nuclear security are distinct but have a common fundamental objective of protecting people and the environment from the harmful effects of radiation. However, there is a need to effectively manage the interface between nuclear safety and security and to maximize the synergies between them as measures in one area could negatively impact the other. To achieve this, a wellcoordinated approach between nuclear safety and security is necessary, and that nuclear safety and nuclear security measures at NFCFs should be planned and implemented in close coordination throughout all phases of the facilities' lifetime. The IAEA Nuclear Security Series Publication No. 13, Nuclear Security Recommendations on Physical Protection of Nuclear Material and Nuclear Facilities (INFCIRC/225/Revision 5) and the IAEA Nuclear Security Series Publication No. 14, Nuclear Security Recommendations on Radioactive Material and Associated Facilities establish recommendations on nuclear security as well as on nuclear security interface with safety Similarly, the IAEA Safety Standards Series No. SSR-4, Safety of Nuclear Fuel Cycle Facilities, establishes requirements on safety of NFCFs, including on managing the nuclear safety interface with nuclear security.

Feedback from IAEA activities related to NFCFs indicate a need to further enhance Member States' understanding and practical implementation of managing the interface between nuclear safety and nuclear security at NFCFs. In this context, the IAEA is organizing this Workshop on Management of the Interface Between Safety and Security for Nuclear Fuel Cycle Facilities, from 24 – 28 November 2025, to provide support to the Member States in this area.

Objectives

The purpose of the event is to provide participating Member States with a forum for sharing knowledge, experience and practical information related to the management of the interface between safety and security for nuclear fuel cycle facilities.

Target Audience

Participation in the workshop is subject to designation by Governments or national organizations. The workshop is open to participants from all IAEA Member States with existing or planned NFCFs.

To ensure maximum effectiveness in the exchange of information, participants should be persons responsible for and having experience with managing the interface between safety and nuclear security of NFCF during the present and/or future operation of NFCFs. Relevant specialists from regulatory bodies and technical support organizations of NFCFs can also participate in the workshop.

The range of the NFCFs covered by the event includes facilities for the processing, refining, conversion, enrichment and fabrication of fuel; spent nuclear fuel storage and reprocessing; and nuclear fuel cycle research and development facilities. Facilities for the mining and processing of natural ore, nuclear power plants, research reactors and waste disposal facilities are outside the scope of this workshop.

Member States are strongly encouraged to identify suitable women participants.

Working Language(s)

English.

Topics

In addition to presentations based on the IAEA safety standards and nuclear security recommendations and guidance by the IAEA representatives, the workshop will include presentations by the participants on the status and national experience of managing the interface between safety and nuclear security of NFCFs.

The workshop will address, among others, the following topics:

- Global nuclear safety and nuclear security regimes and their implementation.
- IAEA safety standards and nuclear security recommendations on manging the interface between nuclear safety and security for NFCFs.
- Synergies and differences between nuclear safety and nuclear security in all phases of lifetime of NFCFs.
- Nuclear safety and nuclear security culture.
- Managing the interface between nuclear safety and nuclear security in different phases and activities in lifetime of NFCFs.
- Interface between safety and nuclear security in emergency preparedness and response.
- Regulatory review of the interface between nuclear safety and nuclear security.

The discussions in the working groups will focus on nuclear safety and nuclear security measures; similar attributes that can mutually reinforce each other without compromising one another; attributes that could create conflicts; and how such conflicts could be addressed. The discussions will also include identification of the challenges and actions to be taken by the operating organizations and regulatory bodies to improve the interface between safety and nuclear security in NFCFs.

Participation and Registration

All persons wishing to participate in the event have to be designated by an IAEA Member State or should be members of organizations that have been invited to attend.

In order to be designated by an IAEA Member State or invited organization, participants are requested to submit their application via the InTouch+ platform (https://intouchplus.iaea.org) to the competent national authority (Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Permanent Mission to the IAEA or National Atomic Energy Authority) or organization for onward transmission to the IAEA by 08 August 2025, following the registration procedure in InTouch+:
